MRPR announces merger with Rhoades, Doehrer & Associates

MRPR, a leading Michigan CPA Firm, announces merger

[Southfield, Michigan] – MRPR CPAs & Advisors (MRPR) of Southfield, Michigan and Rhoades, Doehrer & Associates, PLLC (RDA) of Saline, Michigan are pleased to announce the merger of the two firms effective January 1, 2017. “We are extremely excited to bring these two teams together under the MRPR name,” says Angela Mastroianni, Managing Principal of MRPR. “Rhoades, Doehrer & Associates specialize in Client Accounting and Business Advisory Services, while MRPR has specialized in traditional Audit/Assurance Services, Tax Compliance and Consulting. The merger allows us to leverage our complimentary expertise and best practices providing optimal solutions to our clients and prospects. We will be well positioned to service clients and their ever changing accounting, tax and advisory needs.”

Mastroianni will remain responsible for the overall management of the combined firm, including the Southfield office. Kim Rhoades, of RDA, and Steven Everson, of MRPR, will co-manage the Saline and Ann Arbor offices. The Saline office will remain at its current location through the 2017 busy season to allow a smooth transition of client services. In May 2017, the firm will be combining its current Ann Arbor office and the Saline office at a new south Ann Arbor location.

“We are seeing an ever increasing demand for accounting and controllership services within our client base and with prospects, not to mention the technology changes facing them,” further explains Mastroianni. “The RDA team brings a wealth of accounting, technology solutions and consulting experience to the table. Our combined talents will allow us to continually evolve and innovate to be one step ahead of client demands.”

Kim Rhoades, Robert Doehrer and William Rittinger, all partners of RDA, will become Principals of MRPR. With the addition of the RDA team, MRPR will have around 50 employees across firm offices. Rhoades, founder of RDA, states, “MRPR is a well-respected firm and we are thrilled to be joining hands. Our firms are like-minded, like-sized and have very similar cultures which is important for the combined firm’s people and clients. Both sides will benefit from access to new services and expanded expertise.”

Greg Zink, Principal of MRPR, adds, “This merger is significant and benefits the future success of both firms’ clients and employees. We look to bolster MRPR’s brand name, growth and capabilities in the Southeastern Michigan area. It brings a stronger firm presence to the market and will enhance our recruiting efforts as we continue to build a bench of talented professional staff.”

MRPR is a certified public accounting and business advisory firm with offices in Southfield and Ann Arbor, Michigan.
